

🌿 Lindamood-Bell Literacy Summer Program 🌿

Lindamood-Bell is a multi-sensory learning approach that helps students who struggle with reading and other visual learning processes. This innovative approach trains the brain to visualize words and pictures, providing an effective solution for students with dyslexia, dysgraphia, or difficulty with reading.

The group size is no more than five students, and each day of the program, students will build on skills to help support phonics, orthography, and comprehension. Students will learn to visualize words, decode them, and organize their thoughts and ideas.

We will assess each student as to the level they are at before the start of the program. We are doing this to ensure that the program is built to meet each student's individual needs.

Summer Program

🍃 Social Behavioral Summer Program 🍃

Social and behavioral learning states that behavior is far more intricate than the simplistic response-based approach of behaviorism. Instead, it proposes that students learn by observing and then opt to imitate the behavior they have seen. Moreover, a plethora of underlying emotions can have a significant influence on behavior.

During the program, the students will work on the following:

- Filtering out distractions
- Pausing to create a plan before acting
- Stopping to think about how past actions can be changed into more successful actions in the future.
- Slowing down
- Problem-solving
- Thinking about negative thoughts and changing our mindset using self-talk
